

TapTalk is proud to announce:

Claiming Equality through Early Story and Metaphor

Presented By: Catherine Reid Day, M.A.

Inequality affects the way we see, treat and engage with others and dampens our human thriving. By using two story-based methods, early recollections, and the story + mastery method developed by the presenter, practitioners can address blind spots and barriers on the way to expanding equity, inclusion, and diversity. In this TapTalk, a case study will be used to demonstrate an overview of methods that assist both client and practitioner with movement. The presenter will illustrate how both client and practitioner can become champions of equity through the use of the story + mastery and other Adlerian methods.

DATE: THURSDAY, JUNE 29TH, 2017

TIME: 9:00 P.M EST

NUMBER: (641) 798-4200

ACCESS CODE: 4892130#

Learning objectives:

1. Provide an overview of two story and metaphor based processes used to address barriers and blind spots to equality.
2. Demonstrate Adler's commitment to equality and explore ways to face, embrace, and advance equity for all.

